

The MISSIONARY WORKER

ORGAN OF THE
BRITISH UNION CONFERENCE
OF
SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS

Publishing Convention at Watford

TUESDAY evening, October 26th, a Publishing Convention was convened at Stanborough Park, the meetings being held in the board room of the British Union Conference offices. The General Conference was represented by Pastor N. Z. Town, and the Division by Pastor C. E. Weeks. All the available members of the British Union Conference committee were in attendance, also the Field Missionary secretaries from the conferences and the leading workers from the Publishing House.

Pastor W. H. Meredith, who had just returned from the Autumn Council of the General Conference, opened the convention by telling some of his experiences at the council, following which he set forth the great fundamental principles upon which our publishing work must be carried forward.

On Wednesday morning meetings commenced again at 9 o'clock, and after prayers and the reading of the 14th chapter of Revelation, study was given to the great aim and needs of this branch of the work. Pastor S. Joyce occupied the chair and led out in the discussion.

In the course of his remarks Elder Town told the following interesting experiences that had come to his notice from various parts of the world:

In Brazil a colporteur went to a village and canvassed around the district for eight months. He won the hearts of the people, and at the end of this time sent for the assistance of a minister, who, on arrival, baptized forty-three persons.

Recently in Java four hundred people were found observing the Sabbath who had heard of the truth only through our literature.

In Florence, Italy, in territory that had been worked three or more times with the same book, a young lady has just obtained a scholarship.

In France, where only a short time ago canvassing was thought to be impossible, out of fifty students that went into the field last year, thirty-six obtained full scholarships, and the remainder half scholarships. Pastor Town remarked that the turning of the tide in France dates back to the time when, following successive failures, Brother J. A. P. Green spent a whole night in prayer, asking God to open the way. The following day he took several orders, and the work has gone forward from that day to this.

Brother Weeks also told some interesting experiences. He had just come from a meeting in Budapest, where, he had enjoyed the most inspiring meeting which he could remember in Hungary, at the present time, is a very difficult field, the financial situation being very serious. seven thousand kroner, which before the war would have been worth fourteen hundred dollars. Out of seventy colporteurs who attended this meeting, between forty and fifty had been arrested, most of them had been in prison, and many had been severely beaten. One of the main questions discussed at that institute was "the correct procedure to be adopted by a colporteur when arrested!"

Brother Weaks told of a woman with two children, who had the care of an insane husband, and yet raised up a church of twenty members.

He also told of one of our colporteurs who was beaten almost to death in a certain place. Shortly afterwards another colporteur, a sister, decided to go to the same place, although she knew what had happened there. When she arrived she was reported to the authorities and went to the police office. Here she showed her book to the police officer and sold him a copy. He became interested, recommended her to others, and within a short time she had sold fifty copies of the book.

Another interesting fact brought out by Brother Weaks was that of the fifty colporteurs who had experienced such severe persecution, there were only four who had any debts at the publishing house.

Brother Benefield, speaking of his experiences in house-to-house work, stated that he was now using less territory than ever, expending less energy, getting better returns, and feeling happier than ever. During the week ending October 16th he took orders for over £40 worth of books. He had also delivered £60 worth of books amongst a population of four hundred, all living within a radius of a mile and a half.

Brother Weaks told the story of a man who loved the colporteur work so much that he positively refused to take up administrative work of any kind. Occasionally he was led into other lines of work, but only to feel uncomfortable. This brother used to say that he was unhappy unless he could hear "the music of the door bells."

On the question of territory some interesting facts were made known by Brethren Town and Weaks. They stated that in Germany it was the policy to place three colporteurs among every one hundred thousand people, one for magazine work and two to handle large books. In that country they reconva the territory once a year.

In Norway so scarce is the territory that two colporteurs are given a town of about 20,000 inhabitants, and expected to stay in it for a whole winter. In Iceland, where there are only 90,000 people, an edition of 10,000 copies of "Christ Our Saviour" was sold recently. In Australia our people reckon to rework their territory every six months. There are some families in Australia that have no less than thirteen Seventh-Day Adventist books.

Here is another colporteur's experience:

In the Philippines one of our colporteurs went into a church where mass was being said. The people were all on their knees, but the colporteur saw his opportunity. He went down on his knees beside them and canvassed while the service proceeded. He took several orders.

And another:

A colporteur in Hungary was selling books when he was caught by the police and severely beaten.

The people who had purchased the books from him were compelled to return them. On being released the colporteur left the city, but the people went out by a roundabout road, across the fields, and intercepted him. He wondered why they had come, and was greatly surprised when they begged him to sell them their books over again!

All were much encouraged by these experiences of the working of the Lord in behalf of our colporteurs. But the convention was not all devoted to reports. Much thought was given to ways and means of increasing the efficiency of our present force of workers and of adding recruits.

The question of colporteurs' institutes was raised and it was generally agreed that next year there should be small institutes in Wales, Scotland and Ireland, in addition to those in North and South Britain. It was also decided that the next South British Institute should be held December 30th to January 5th, with the North British Institute following immediately, from January 6th to 12th.

Other resolutions of this convention will be published later. Altogether it was a very profitable time and should tend to strengthen the publishing work in this field.

An Inspiring History

In reviewing the Harvest Ingathering experiences in the British Union for the past ten years, one cannot fail to receive encouragement. God has surely set His seal of approval on this line of work if we can judge from the success attained. Who amongst the hundreds of collectors taking part in the work has not experienced the divine blessing? Quite a volume of testimony could be provided from all parts.

In 1916 we started on our Ingathering career without a goal, and raised £206. In 1917 an individual goal was set representing £363 for the field. This was exceeded by £660. The goal for 1918 was £1,000 and we raised £2,943. The following year our objective was £3,000, which was exceeded by £2,680. In 1920 we aimed at £5,000, and reached £9,436. In 1921, the boom year, £10,000 was realized. We dropped from this high peak to £8,200 in 1922. In 1923 the goal was again exceeded by £670. In 1924 we also had an overflow of £576. Last year our goal was £7,500 and we reached the sum of £7,691. Success all along the line, not only for the raising of so much money, but in the splendid advance made in the mission fields as the money has been used for the salvation of souls. This brief history is worth considering at the present time when we are struggling hard to get the balance of £2,000 still needed on the 1926 aim.

Brethren and sisters, that "God is with us" has been revealed in the present campaign as surely as in our previous efforts. Let us be sure our zeal for this good work does not flag. If we fail to get our goal it will be for the first time. Are we willing to suffer this defeat? We want £2,000! We must get it! Not merely to satisfy our conference officials or the Home Missionary Department, nor that we might have the general satisfaction of having reached the goal for 1926, but for the sake of the work in benighted lands. The money is absolutely needed for the carrying forward of the various mission enterprises connected with our world work. A drop of £2,000 in mission funds, or even half that amount would be a serious matter. Generally speaking, it would mean reduced facilities and possibly hardship to our missionaries besides retarding the work which is opening up in such a wonderful way in all the great mission areas. We believe this is well understood by our churchmembers. The fact that £5,000 has been collected in the midst of a general trade depression is evidence that a loyal people are carrying a general burden for the unfinished work

We would strongly recommend that every conference worker and church leader make an earnest appeal on the first Sabbath of the month for A UNITED EFFORT TO COLLECT AN AVERAGE OF 5/- FOR EACH MEMBER ON SUN-

DAY, NOVEMBER 7th. If this was realized we should have over £1,000 towards the balance. Then let each of the churches and companies where the goal has not been reached keep the effort steadily going until we can report "All Clear" for the field.

There is still a limited supply of literature available. Requests sent to the Home Missionary Department, Stanborough Park, will be promptly attended to.

We are glad to report twenty-seven places in the starred list. The names and amounts are given below.

Other churches and companies are near the border line but quite a number have still a long way to go. We trust that all who have the cause of God at heart will press in and bring the campaign for 1926 to a successful issue.

Notes from the President

OUR latest Ingathering report shows that South England has obtained £2,762 to date. The figure for Wales is £324 and for Ireland £227. The total for the South British Conference is £3,314, or approximately £900 short of our goal. It would not surprise us if we reached our aim of £4,200 in spite of appearances.

We do heartily appreciate the excellent work done by many of our members. We know that some of them have gone out this year determined to accomplish more than they have ever done in the past. The self-sacrificing labours of these dear brethren and sisters will not go unrewarded.

WHILE many have done so well, there must be a large number who have not taken part in the campaign at all. Perhaps some have found it impossible to go out with the canisters and cards, but are there not those who have not yet had an experience in collecting, who could arrange to go were they to make an effort? We cannot continue the campaign indefinitely, yet we should like to reach our goal. Could we not make Sunday, November 7th, a field day, encouraging all who have not yet been out, to make one effort at least? If only every member in the South British Conference were to succeed in getting 5/- in addition to what has already been obtained, the goal would be reached. May we not count on you to do your best?

F. A. SPEARING.

Wales

CONDITIONS in Wales become worse week by week as the coal stoppage continues, and many of our people are experiencing real difficulties. Some are unable to supply clothing and boots for their families. Yet they are of good courage, and the Lord's helping hand is being made manifest. In cases of special need the Lord has directly answered prayer by sending the needed help from unexpected sources.

Our churches on the whole are in good spiritual condition though they are continually endeavouring to reach a higher standard. Here in Cardiff we have good attendances at all our meetings and plan to begin a small effort on November 7th, in a hall seating three hundred.

Brother Bird has come to Newport, and began work on October 31st in one of the best halls in the city. The churchmembers are supporting him splendidly with their prayers, and also in the advertising, distributing bills, etc. We ask the prayers of the WORKER family for the success of his work in this difficult city.

At Swansea Brother Cooper has laboured faithfully for the church and some have begun to observe the Sabbath. He is planning to begin work in Llanelly in January. Llanelly, with a population of some 35,000 and about ten miles from Swansea, has never been evangelized. We trust that a good church may be established there.

It is the desire of our people in Wales to advance with the advancing cause of God.

Scotland's Revival

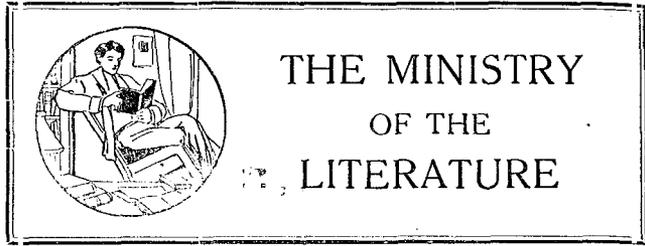

ON Sunday, October 17th, at 7 p.m. we held our opening meeting in the Picture House, Sauchiehall Street, Glasgow. It is a select theatre and holds about 2,000 people. I arrived outside the hall at about 5.45 and to my delight found several hundred people awaiting admission. This number was considerably augmented every few minutes, and when the doors opened at 6 o'clock there was a veritable rush to enter. By 6.15 all the seats on the ground floor were filled. At 6.30 every seat in the vast theatre was occupied and the stewards were calling out "standing room only." Soon many hundreds were standing, ins^t such that orders were given to close the entrances; this was 6.35 just twenty-five minutes before the commencement of the lecture. At 7 p.m. the crowd outside was estimated at fully one thousand people. Amongst these were more than half of our Glasgow members; all unable to obtain admission.

If we can judge by the responses made by the people during the service the message was well-received. The collection amounted to £17. 2s 6d., there being in this eight hundred threepenny pieces.

The members of Glasgow and district did splendid service in the matter of bill distribution giving out in one week voluntarily 34,000 handbills. The men of the church with a few friends formed a very efficient staff of twenty-five stewards. Brother G. D. King organized the many activities contingent to this big effort.

We are indeed grateful for this providential opening of our Scottish campaign and trust that a splendid harvest of souls may eventually be reaped in this great city.

W. MAUDSLEY.

At Home and Abroad

HERE are some remarkable things that you will be glad to hear about your health paper

ONE of the rulers of India, the Maharajah of Mabha, is a regular subscriber to "Good Health".

TWENTY THOUSAND copies of "Good Health" were sold monthly last year. About four hundred people buy the magazine regularly through their newsagent.

THE Scandinavian publishing house has been so impressed with the attractive appearance of "Good Health," that they have changed their own health paper over to the same style.

THE last number of the Hungarian health paper, "Elet es Egesszeg," was brought out in the same style as "Good Health".

LAST year £5,000 was earned by our members by the sale of "Good Health" and "Present Truth".

A CABLE has just reached us from Mauritius, that far-off island in the Indian Ocean. "200 'Good Health' from September continuous." Evidently the believers in that field are planning to use "the entering wedge that splits the rock of indifference."

A LETTER from Trinidad contains an order for fifty copies of "Good Health" to be sent regularly for use in that island. The magazines are sold there at 4d. per copy.

Souls Won Through "Good Health"

A LITTLE while ago, Brother Newman, who did such good work as leader of the colporteurs in the South British Conference, told us how he was led to the truth. He said:

"Some twelve years ago Brother Rose was canvassing health foods and selling copies of 'Good Health'. Having a family of four children this all-important question of diet appealed to Mrs. Newman, and she readily purchased a copy. By the time our brother came his round again with his books, my wife was eager to purchase some foods, and he was not long in bringing out the Scripture concerning the foods we should eat and not eat. Always eager for truth on the Bible, Mrs. Newman put several questions which led to an invitation to attend the meetings that were being held during the week on the study of the Scriptures.

"The result was that the message was accepted first by Mrs. Newman, then by the two girls, both of whom are now missionaries in Africa. The other two children with us are keeping the Sabbath, and will before long be candidates for baptism.

"After five years' opposition and bitter experience I gave way also to the powerful influence of the message, and have rejoiced in spreading its truth both in business and selling of literature."

Think of it, a God-fearing mother, a field secretary, two missionaries, two other loyal children all working for God through that humble beginning with "Good Health".

The Church Should Practise the Healing Art

IN the "Baptist Times" of September 23rd appeared an article with the familiar title, "The Ministry of healing".

Though the theme was essentially on the healing of the soul, the article closed with words which voice the principles of our health movement:

"The mission of the church is to contain the ministry of the Lord. She is the body through which He acts, and the call of the hour is that the church should practise the healing art. There are many things she might do, but this is the task for which she came into being, and if neglected finds no compensation or substitute in other things."

Just now while popular interest is excited over health questions, we have a golden opportunity to bring health and happiness to a multitude of homes. Order a parcel of the November "Good Health" and visit your neighbours with the paper. Do not merely try to sell them one copy but endeavour to arouse their interest. Tell them what these principles of health have done for you, and encourage them to expect a greater degree of strength and freedom from sickness as they practise the teachings of the magazine.

Denmark Goes Forward With "Sundhetsbladet"

LAST winter two of the workers of our Danish sanitarium took up the work of soliciting annual subscriptions for the Scandinavian "Good Health". In this way they succeeded in obtaining almost 2,000 regular readers. Their success gave courage and faith to other workers and a total of 6,000 new, regular readers has been obtained in this way.

South Africa

A LETTER from our South African publishing house says, "I am much impressed with the appearance of this magazine and I hope we can do something towards its circulation in South Africa."

The Lesson in the Cotton Mill

STANDING by the side of a loom in a Lancashire cotton mill, one is impressed by the sight of the flying shuttle as it flashes backwards and forwards between the long threads, which are unwinding slowly from the beam. The thread from the shuttle interlaces with the thread from the beam and a perfect pattern is formed.

Thus is represented by the Spirit of prophecy the relation between our health work and our religious work. Should the thread from the shuttle be missing a weak flaw is formed and the cloth is easily torn. Let us see that the threads of our religious work are made perfect and strong by being interlaced with our medical missionary work. Give our health magazine a wide circulation.

The Wonderful Gift

How would you like to be able to give your neighbours a wonderful gift? A gift that would bring clearness of brain, strength of muscle, powers of quick action, and long endurance?

A gift that would give to a young woman a clear, attractive complexion, bright eyes, pretty teeth, quick mental perceptions.

A gift that would bring to boys and girls, nimble feet, quick hands, and strength of body.

A gift that would give to many a baby laughing eyes, a contented, crowing voice, good temper, and quiet sleep.

Yes! that would be a wonderful gift—a gift from heaven.

Heaven's Wonderful Gift Good Health

Through the pages of our health magazine we are endeavouring to bring this great gift within the reach of all. And its name has been aptly chosen.

"Good Health"

Sell the magazine to your neighbours and share with them this wonderful gift. Your own health will improve as you endeavour to help others.

at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Wood of Birmingham. The efforts of the host and hostess to make this happy event a success were much appreciated by all. The ceremony was performed by the writer.

At Rest

WAYDE.—Sister R. Wayde, aged 55 years, while under the care of a specialist, passed peacefully away at her home in Norbury, August 12, 1926, and was interred in the Croydon cemetery August 16, 1926.

Sister Wayde accepted the truth in Leeds, while on a visit to her sister, Mrs. B. Craven, and sometime later was baptized by Pastor J. Bell. For many years her health was poor and she could only attend the meetings occasionally. She was loyal to the truth and to her conviction of right and duty, and patient in suffering. She leaves a devoted husband and daughter, three sisters and a brother to mourn their loss.

The funeral service was conducted by the writer and F. S. Jackson.

WE are more than pleased to be able to report that the initial success of the Glasgow campaign is continuing. Pastor Maudsley writes. "Third Sunday house packed full again. People began to arrive at 5 p.m. Hundreds were turned away at 6.45. We now have 300 names and addresses of interested readers."

PASTOR W. H. MEREDITH returned from the Autumn Council October 24th

At the present time Brethren N. Z. Town and C. E. Weaks are visiting a number of our churches and individual colporteurs. We feel sure they will receive a hearty welcome wherever they go.

The Time to Advance

ONE of the most striking and significant features of the daily papers and other popular literature to-day is the great amount of space given to the consideration of health topics. Men of wide experience in the highest ranks of the medical profession are telling the public how to keep well.

Years ago the principles of healthful living that are now being advocated so widely, were urged upon the people of this denomination, and we were exhorted to give them out, and to present them to the world. To-day, the truths committed to this people are being taught everywhere by others. Have we done our duty in this respect? Are we living up to this teaching? Here is a statement made by one of the greatest surgeons in England, and quoted in a recent Sunday paper.

"The vital importance of knowledge of these laws of health is so essential that no pains should be spared in impressing them on the public.

"Such necessary foods are those which Nature provides from the soil. They alone are the best possible for ensuring perfect health. They are dairy products, wholemeal bread, uncooked fruits and vegetables."

The Union Conference and the Sanitarium are perfecting a plan whereby lectures on health topics may be given in some of the largest cities of Great Britain, where our churches are willing to co-operate in such a campaign. Such co-operation means a sharing of expense and the necessary work involved. If there are churches that want such efforts in their cities and will assist in the expense and the labour, the Sanitarium will furnish the lecturers, and the Union will assist in the expense. The medical secretary at the Union offices would be pleased to correspond with any church that would like to engage in such work. Final arrangements would be made with the consent of the local conference president. Now is the time for such work. The people are ready for it. Shall we do our part in the great movement?

GRANOSE FOODS LIMITED

FROM time to time we receive requests from our good people for Granose Flakes seconds. The object in making this announcement is that possibly a larger number of our members throughout the field would like to take advantage of the offer we are making in this column.

We purpose putting Granose Flakes seconds into packets, each containing approximately 1½ lb., so that they can be as easily handled by the housewife as those we sell to the general public. If Granose Flakes firsts were purchased, 1/7 per lb. would be the price. You will notice that the undermentioned prices are much less than half

2 packets (equal 3lb.) 2/- the two packets
4 packets (equal 6lb.) 3/- the four packets
1 Carton (equal 9lb.) 4/- each carton

Any quantity will be sent post free; but please send cash with order.

This introduces another point. We are happy to report that the increase of trade enables us to employ students from the College to help them through the school year. When buying Granose Flakes—firsts or seconds—or other of our health foods you are assisting these workers and helping the cause at the same time. The more foods you purchase the more students we can employ.

The unsolicited testimonials we are continually receiving from regular users of "Granose" testify to the health-giving properties contained in this very popular food. We are only able to include here two testimonials which we are sure will be of interest to you:

"We have been using Granose biscuits for some time now, and finding them so beneficial, have recommended them to several friends, who are now asking us to procure some for them."

"We have very much pleasure in sending you a photograph of our 'Granose Baby'. The mother of this child is very happy and firmly believes that 'Granose' saved the life of her baby."

"Two weeks before Christmas the baby had a very serious illness, and would not eat anything. One night as the mother watched the baby (by this time scarcely anything more than skin and bone) having great difficulty to breathe, she just put a little Granose between its lips, and the baby ate it. Since then, wonderful progress has been made and needless to say, Granose is still used and also recommended to everyone. This mother said she 'would like to be able to tell all the mothers in the world to use Granose for their babies'. The child weighed 27lb. 10oz. about one month ago and has fourteen teeth through, also walks all over the house."

It is hoped that all our members will also be enthusiastic in recommending this health-giving and much appreciated food—unsurpassed by any other on the market.
H. OSBORNE.
