WE ENTER KESWICK

A Great Door—and Many Adversaries

By A. S. MAXWELL

(With photographs by A. Warren.)

FOR the past four years it has been our privilege to be present at the Keswick Convention. As most of our people are aware, this religious gathering in the heart of the Lake District is attended each year by about 2,500 Christian people and the representatives of various Protestant Missionary Societies and publishing houses.

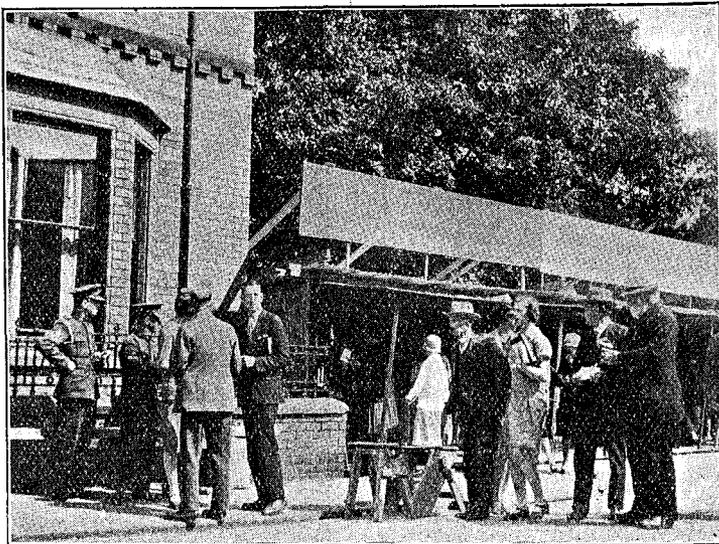

From the first we felt that our own organization should some day be represented at this interdenominational conference "for the deepening of spiritual life," and at once began to lay plans to this end. When, early this year, we learned that the Church Missionary Society had decided to vacate the stall they had usually occupied, we decided to accept this opening as the leading of God.

Accordingly, in company with Brother and Sister A. Warren, we ventured into this new experience, taking with us a quantity of our most attractive books and the Stanborough Press electric signs illustrating the world-wide character of our publishing work. Lest we should cause a rift in the sweet lute of this "holiness" convention, we made a point of leaving behind anything that might be considered controversial, our purpose being merely to give these thousands of Christian people an opportunity of seeing the wonderful way in which God has blessed our work.

But our thoughtfulness for their peace of mind was all to no purpose. Hardly had we opened the stall than the attack began. Holiness in the tent became hypocrisy in the street. Men and women swarmed out of the great canvas cathedral—where they had listened to moving addresses on the love of God and the power of the Holy Spirit—and came scowling and murmuring around the new stall. Somebody started giving away green leaflets telling the people to "recoil in horror" from us. Brave Brother Warren replied by handing out Victory leaflets! Then the storm burst. We were called "sons of perdition," "children of the devil," and our coming to Keswick as the "last and greatest effrontery of Satan."

One burly faced bully—a worker in a London Mission we afterwards discovered!—was particularly offensive and to the last he would stop passers-by and point with scorn and indignation to this "work of the devil." He reminded us of Demetrius the silversmith who stirred up all Ephesus against Paul. The first night he succeeded in gathering a crowd to listen to him as he read out the contents of the well-known tract on false "isms." As he went on he roused coarse and scornful laughter with his jokes at our expense. Then leering at Brother Warren, who smiled happily the whole time, he told him savagely that there would be no laughter in hell.

The ferocity and intolerance of these people was simply shocking. To one who has attended Keswick under more peaceful circumstances it was a revelation of the depths of darkness, blindness, and hypocrisy to which the human heart can sink under the guise of religion. Without doubt it was just such a crowd as this that cried out "Crucify Him, Crucify Him," when Our Lord was condemned in Jerusalem. It will be just such Christless Christians who will be our worst and bitterest enemies in the closing scenes.

But despite all the opposition much good, we believe, was accomplished. The Lord raised up friends in unexpected quarters. One of these obtained scores of the opposition leaflets and handed them over to us—and we brought them home as a souvenir! Another lady who had been at the Sanitarium stood up for us with great enthusiasm, and all the time other brave souls were coming in—cautiously, it is true—to find out what it was that these terrible heretics believed. And when Demetrius railed upon us most savagely, a sweet voice from the crowd cried out, "No, no, charity, the greatest of these is charity."

From the point of view of advertisement, if we had spent an immense sum we could not have had more publicity than our enemies gave us at their own expense. And everywhere it brought enquiries—on the street, in the hotel, by the lake. We discussed the truth with clergymen and others whom we might never have reached in any other way. Missionaries told us of their contact with our people in China, India, and the South Seas; others told us of visits from colporteurs, and one spoke of purchasing a book from a colporteur this summer.

Some of the interviews were by no means as happy as we should have desired. Honest enquirers unburdened all their objections to Seventh-Day Adventists and we found ourselves not merely giving a publishing exhibition, as we had planned, but forced to defend every phase of our denominational work. We believe the Lord led us all, however, to speak the soft answer that turneth away wrath.

It is too early yet to estimate the result of this thrilling spiritual adventure, but we believe that God will use it somehow for the advancement of His cause of truth. The work done—the words spoken, the books sold, and the tracts distributed, cannot all have been in vain. The influence of the Press stall at Keswick will spread to earth's remotest bounds, and once more the Lord will cause the wrath of men to praise Him.

Discussing "the last and greatest effrontery of Satan"

THE CHEMNITZ M. V. CONGRESS

By W. L. EMMERSON

THE long-anticipated first European Young People's M. V. Congress at Chemnitz has at last come to pass. On Monday and Tuesday last, July 16th and 17th, trains were depositing hundreds of delegates from all parts of Europe on the platforms of the Hauptbahnhof (Main Station), where they were lustily cheered by the large companies of local Young People assembled to receive them. The arriving delegations were conducted by these local detachments through streets decorated with banners of welcome to the Adventhaus and from thence the visitors were directed to the various hotels and homes provided for their accommodation during the Congress.

On Tuesday evening an inspiring welcome service in the Adventhaus opened the Congress, the Division M. V. Secretary, Brother Rasmussen, the Union M. V. Secretaries, representatives of the General Conference and others greeting the delegates and laying the foundation for the work of the following days.

On Wednesday morning the Congress proper began in the Kauffmännisches Vereinshaus.

It was a wonderful sight to look over the great hall and see the 2,500 representatives of twenty-six different European countries and thirty-five different languages, stand and sing to the Lord their heart-felt praise. From the balconies hung their national flags, and over the great rostrum were maps and charts illustrating the onward march of the Young People's movement in Europe.

Never before has such an assembly of young Adventism convened, and it is truly a sight to rejoice the heart to view all these happy faces shining with the same blessed truth, and drinking in the word of life which is to build them up into still sturdier volunteers for the Master.

The Congress is favoured by the presence of Elders I. H. Evans and L. H. Christian, Vice-Presidents of the General Conference respectively for the Far Eastern and European Divisions; B. E. Beddoe, Associate Secretary of the General Conference; W. K. Ising, Secretary of the European Division; P. Drinhaus, President of the East German Union; H. Böx, Associate Secretary of the Publishing Department of the European Division; L. L. Caviness, Secretary of the Sabbath-school Department of the European Division; W. M. Landeen, Secretary of the Educational Department of the European Division, as well as the Union and local conference Missionary Volunteer Secretaries from all parts of Europe.

Each morning the delegates gather during the devotional hour to study some of the fundamental elements of the victorious Christian life. The messages received have given birth to new desires and new resolutions in the hearts of all.

In the Congress sessions stirring reports have been heard from the M. V. Leaders of the various Unions represented. As we have listened to the difficulties of working in the Catholic countries, and have realized something of the indomitable courage of these young people in the face of hardship, persecution, and even death, our hearts have gone up in thankfulness for such God-touched hearts and consecrated lives.

The various branches of Young People's work and the preparation needed for them are being carefully considered in the Congress sessions and the discussion groups; and in the latter meetings the delegates themselves have opportunity of discussing the privileges, responsibilities, and duties of the youth in relation to the home, the church, and the world.

Further interest is added to the Congress by exhibits of photographs, charts, and maps illustrating the work of young people in different parts of Europe, as well as exhibits of industrial work carried on in mission schools.

A feast of good things has certainly been prepared. The hearts of all have been touched by the courage-inspiring experiences, the heart-searching questions, and the stirring calls to the youth. All have felt the need of a reconsecration to more determined service for the Master Who has done so much for them.

It would be impossible in a short space to tell of all the inspiration received at this unprecedented gathering. It will remain for the delegates of the various local churches to enter into the details of all the devotional studies, reports, talks, and discussions which have been crowded into these eventful days.

The need of to-day is for a more earnest, a more efficient, a more powerful, a more spiritual, and a more victorious youth, and the various phases of the Congress are effectively supplying the materials for building such workers. As the delegates return enthused with higher ideals and a more noble ambition, they will surely cause a lifting of the standard throughout the land for the finishing of the work in the whitened fields of the British Isles.

Notes from the President

ONE final word regarding the workers' meeting and the British Union Conference session which follows. All conference workers will be expected to attend every meeting of the workers' meeting and the conference. We ask that every one will make a point of being on time at each service.

IN case there are some who are still questioning in their minds as to whether they should go to Birmingham or not we would say, By all means go, and obtain the blessing that awaits you. This will undoubtedly prove to be the most historic session in the history of the work in this field. As has been announced elsewhere railway vouchers enabling delegates and friends to travel to Birmingham at one single fare and a third, are available. Should any who intend to go to the conference not have sent for their vouchers, they should do so immediately. Applications to be addressed as usual to the conference secretary.

WILL all readers of the MISSIONARY WORKER please note that the South British Conference office will be closed from Monday, July 30th, to August 8th inclusive.

Churches are not asked to select delegates for the British Union Session. This matter is attended to by the executive committee of the Conference. Churches are, however, asked to choose delegates for the South British Conference session which is to be held in the New Holloway Hall, 395 Holloway Road, London, N.7., from Thursday, August 30th, to Monday, September 3rd. Those churches which have not sent in lists of delegates for this local conference session, should do so without delay. One delegate is allowed for the church, and one for every ten members.

THE latest word from North London is that only about £400 has still to be raised by the church-members. As soon as this sum is obtained we can say the church is out of debt.

WE wish to share with our members the good news that the tithe for the first six months of this year is £363 higher than for the first six months of 1927. The mission offerings also show a good increase. We appreciate the faithfulness of our people in the matter of returning to the Lord that which He claims as His own, and we know that the blessing of God attends all who are faithful in this respect.

At the moment of writing the brethren and sisters of the North London Church are planning for the first baptismal service in the New Holloway Hall. Those who are to go forward in baptism at this time represent the first-fruits of the labours of Pastor D. Morrison and his associate workers. Other baptisms have been reported, and still others are being planned.

We know that these tidings will rejoice the hearts of God's people.

F. A. SPEARING.

North British Conference

President: Alfred E. Bacon

Presidential Notes

THIS is the last opportunity we shall have of communicating with you through the MISSIONARY WORKER before the conferences in Birmingham. We could give you some interesting facts concerning the progress of our work in the North British Conference but are reserving these for our report at the conference. To those who have not made up their minds to be present we would say that, while it is very late in the day to make your decision, we are glad it is not too late. We feel like saying to every member in the field, "Come with us and we will do thee good, for the Lord hath spoken good concerning Israel." If you have not applied for vouchers, it will be imperative that you do so immediately on receipt of this WORKER on Sabbath, July 28th, because, as stated, the office will be closed from Monday noon, July 30th, until Wednesday morning, August 8th. You should also apply immediately to Brother King for your apartments.

Looking forward to meeting you, and inviting you to pray earnestly that this gathering of God's children may be a time of great spiritual refreshing,

Yours in anticipation of a Pentecostal blessing,
ALFRED E. BACON.

Accommodation—Final Word

BY the time this "final word" is published we can only hope that all who intend to call on us for accommodation during the Conference session have sent in their application. Should there be some who have left it so late, we would suggest a telegram as the only possible remedy.

With reference to the apartments that have been secured, it is no exaggeration to say that every effort has been made to secure really good accommodation at a reasonable charge. Many weary miles have been trodden during the recent heat wave in an endeavour to "house" everyone comfortably during their stay in Birmingham. The staff appointed to this tedious task have spared no pains to meet the many and varied requests that have poured in from all parts of the British Isles.

We would, however, just warn our friends that not all the apartments are "just outside the Town Hall." It is a well recognized fact that there are practically no desirable quarters within a fair distance of the Town Hall. Many who hoped to be "hard by the synagogue" will find that they are better placed if they have a 1½d, 2d, or even a 2½d tram ride out from the City. As far as possible all apartments have been chosen within easy distance of the bus and tram routes.

When you arrive at the Town Hall you will find the "Apartments" stand quite easily.

Direction cards will indicate our whereabouts.

Some will be arriving before the opening service on Thursday evening and for the benefit of such we publish the following time-table and place of our staff:

Sunday, July 29th, Nineveh Road Church, Handsworth6.30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Monday, July 30th, (place as above) 12 noon to 9 p.m.

Tuesday and Wednesday, July 31st and August 1st (place as above) 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Thursday, August 2nd, Town Hall. (Entrance until 7 p.m. "A" Door, Congreve Street) 12 noon to 9 p.m.

When applying for your apartments at the "stand" please give the name of the person who applied, as all apartments are filed alphabetically under the names of the applicants.

Finally, can we ask you all to accept the apartments that have been booked and allotted to you. Should there be some little thing (a remote possibility) that does not meet your wishes, remember you are not staying a life time, just smile! and "Count it all joy."
G. D. KING.

THE STANBOROUGH'S

Our Nurses' Training

MANY are called but few are chosen. This text is as applicable to the missionary nurses' training as to any calling in the work of the Gospel ministry. Without detracting from the value of this text we may change around the words called and chosen and still show its exact truth from another point of view. Many are chosen but few are called.

In the nursing papers of the world one often reads this advertisement "Wanted: Probationer nurses; must be strong and well-educated." We call for more than this. Our General Conference recommend that only such candidates be received as give evidence of consecration to, and fitness for, missionary service in the Gospel message, and that no one be received whose purpose is to obtain a training for merely professional aims.

We admit the nursing world is doing a noble work and in its ranks are some of the finest characters as well as the shallow and artificial. The chosen ones may deceive a matron and mostly deceive a doctor, but never a patient: and so a woman is either a nurse or not a nurse. She is either called and proves a blessing or she is chosen and is an abomination. The born nurse, so often quoted, possesses only the aptitude and love for nursing—two very necessary requisites—but without the essential training, she has neither equipment nor the right to impose herself upon the nursing profession.

There is a tendency with the young women of our ranks to compare our training school with those of the world—to forget or be ignorant of the difference in their standards, and to criticize from hearsay, thus drawing a wrong conclusion. Compare our aim with that of the world and then our need for nurses, called rather than chosen, will be better understood. We want the women who love the profession more for itself than for its laurels and material benefits, the women to whom the approval of God means more than credentials and State recognition. These are the ones who need never fear a dearth of work, for God is calling them to the already whitened harvest fields.

Vcl. 33. No. 15

Copy for the next issue must reach us not later than Wednesday, August 1st.

July 27, 1928.

THE Stanborough Press Ltd. will be closed from Friday August 3rd to Tuesday August 7th, to enable the whole staff to attend the Birmingham Conference. Please order all supplies in good time.

ON Monday next, July 30th, all the Conference workers in the British Union will meet at our Nineveh Road Church, Birmingham, for a special season of prayer and instruction prior to the conference in the City Hall. It is expected that Pastors Christian, Haynes, Andross and W. T. Bartlett will be present.

THEN on Thursday evening next the Quadrennial Session of the British Union Conference will open, the address of welcome being given at 7.30 by Pastor W. H. Meredith. If you have not yet decided to go to this important conference, there is yet time to make arrangements. Remember there will not be another Union Session for four years.

MANY of our people will not, of course, be able to attend the conference, and for them we shall publish special reports of the proceedings in the next issue of the MISSIONARY WORKER. Our reporting staff will be augmented for the occasion and we shall endeavour to have the paper in the hands of our people as soon as possible after the close of the conference.

THE outstanding event of the past week—at least as far as we are concerned—was the planting of a Stanborough Press book-stall within the sacred precincts of the Keswick Convention. A report appears elsewhere in this issue.

LAST Sunday evening, July 22nd, the beautiful new church building on Stanborough Park was opened. Thus yet another of the great desires of God's people in this field has been realized. Through many disappointments some have hoped on for over twenty years, and now their brightest dreams have been more than realized. Built of multi-coloured bricks and white Bath stone, the building presents a delightful appearance amid its surroundings of green trees. The official opening was conducted in the afternoon by Pastor W. H. Meredith, while Pastor E. E. Andross, one-time president of the British Union Conference, gave the address at the evening service.

As we go to press, word comes from Chemnitz telling of the happy time our young people are having there. Brother Emerson's report will be found on page three.

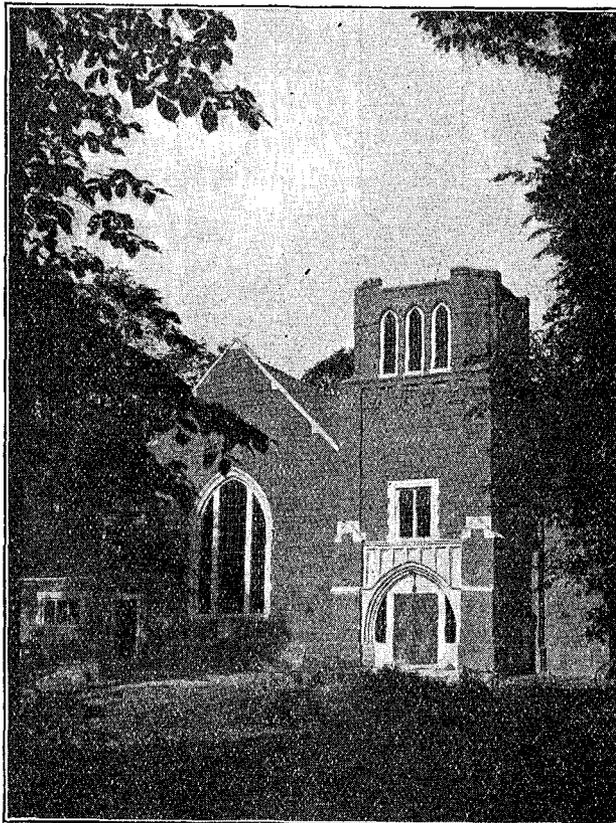

Transportation Notes

BROTHER AND SISTER TARR from South Africa are now on their way to the United States. They are planning to spend all the time studying our work so that on their return to Africa they can continue in their sphere of labour with greater efficiency.

Brother and Sister Bergherm and daughter, age 3½ years, sailed on the s.s. "Leviathan" for New York. Brother Bergherm comes from Argentina and gives a good report of the work there.

Brother Wallace, also from Argentina, arrived on the 15th July and will be sailing for New York on the s.s. "Republic," July 24th.
