“AND THE LORD ADDED”

Inspiring Results of Missionary Work

BY W. M. LENNOX

SABBATH, March 24th, was a happy day for the church at Liverpool, fourteen souls being added to the Lord. These candidates represent, in many respects, the fruit of faithful home missionary work by the members.

In 1932 the Liverpool churchmembers sold 41,500 copies of Present Truth and that work bore fruit. Brother Jones, a tram conductor, took his stand for the truth through reading the serial, “Friendly Talks.” He has had Sabbath free at his employment for over twelve months. He has had many “crises” and the day he received the right hand of fellowship, he should have been on duty, but on asking for leave, had been refused, so stayed away. He is still continuing in his work and witnesses faithfully.

In 1933 the members distributed 48,000 copies of Present Truth and, as a result, Brother and Sister Walsh were baptized. A canvasser sold Present Truth at their door and tactfully obtained a regular reader. In one issue Brother Walsh read the truth of the Sabbath, and with no human prompting, went to his employers (a large baking concern) to request the Sabbath free. Although this was refused, he was undaunted and, backed by his loyal wife, he honoured the Lord and is now in business for himself.

About eight months ago Brother Jefferies, the faithful elder of the Romford Church, came to visit his daughter. While in Liverpool he stayed with a Mrs. Turner, and in a quiet way bore his testimony to the truth of the Bible. On his return to South England, he passed on the name and address to the local worker in Liverpool. To-day Mrs. Turner, her son, and daughter are churchmembers with us.

Nine years ago a Seventh-Day Adventist physician, Dr. Harry Hankins, was on his way from Montreal to Durban, S.A. He was travelling on an Elder Dempster boat and during the voyage taught the truth to the second officer. The young man did not then take his stand but he knew the truth. The doctor did thorough work.

Six months ago, Brother Gillett, then fourth officer on a large Canadian Pacific passenger steamer, sailing out of Liverpool, was in perplexity, and feeling the need of advice, sought out the Adventist worker. Since that time the Lord has done wonders and to-day the work of the faithful doctor has borne fruit. “One sows, another reaps, but God giveth the increase.”

Sister Stringfellow was first interested through a copy of Present Truth purchased at the door. She, in turn, carried the truth to her mother and to-day both are members in Liverpool.

Space does not permit me to tell all the way the Lord has led us. All we know is, that He has guided all who went forward and to Him belongs the praise. May all be kept faithful “until He come.”

Newbold College Colporteurs

Notes from the Union President

THE reports concerning our membership for the first quarter are now complete and we are very happy to notice that 111 new believers have been received into the Advent faith by baptism and vote during the first three months of the year. There have been quite a number of deaths, however, and these, together with others who have left the country and dropped out for other reasons, make our net gain seventy-six. Other baptisms are planned during the present quarter, and we sincerely hope that this good beginning may be continued through the remaining quarters of the year. May 1934 stand out as our banner year in the winning of souls to Christ!

WE are glad to note that the tithes for the first quarter are in excess of the first quarter of last year. After all, that is how it should be, especially with our increase in membership. May we be faithful to the Lord in our tithes and offerings! May we faithfully discharge our responsibility to Him in bringing that which is His own, that His work in the earth may be speedily finished.

THERE seems to be a little misunderstanding in some of our churches with reference to recording members who are transferred to other churches. It should be remembered that members ought not to be dropped from the church record when the transfer form is made out. Church clerks should wait for the return half of the transfer before counting the members as actually transferred. Unless this plan is followed, it will mean that some quarters we shall have perhaps ten or even twenty members of the church who are not recorded as members either from the outgoing or the incoming church. By all means let members retain their membership in the church until it is definitely ascertained that they are accepted as churchmembers in the church where they have gone to reside.

MIGHT we call attention again to the special offer being made by the Review and Herald Publishing Association concerning our denominational paper, the Advent Review and Sabbath Herald. You will have observed a special notice in the last copy of the MISSIONARY WORKER, that for the period of one month, from May 9th to June 7th, the brethren at Washington will be prepared to supply the Review and Herald for one year for the sum of 8/-. This is certainly a remarkable concession. We should certainly take advantage of this special offer and arrange for this weekly visitor to come to our homes regularly. Think of it! It is less than 2d. a week, and even that includes postage!

Early Writings, a little book which should be in every Adventist home, can be obtained from the Publishing House at Watford for the sum of 2/-. It is a special edition published by the Review and Herald Publishing Association, is very nicely bound in stiff cover, and is splendid value. If you do not possess a copy, why not arrange to get one as early as possible!

By the time this issue of the MISSIONARY WORKER reaches our churchmembers the closing exercises of our College at Newbold will be in progress. Immediately following graduation many of our young people will be journeying north, south, east, and west to their territory for the summer's work. They will carry our message-filled literature and will work with the dual objective in mind of circulating our publications, and also earning the wherewithal to enable them to continue their education for service in the cause of God. We might notice the following statement from Counsels to Teachers, pages 524-526

"The Lord has instituted a plan whereby many of the students in our schools can learn practical lessons needful to success in after-life. He has given us the privilege of handling books that have been dedicated to the advancement of our educational and sanitarium work. In the very handling of these books the youth will meet with many experiences that will teach them how to cope with problems that await them in the regions beyond. During their school life, as they handle these books, they may learn how to approach people courteously, and how to exercise tact in conversing with them on different points of present truth. And as they meet with a degree of success financially, some will learn lessons of thrift and economy, which will be of great advantage to them when they are sent out as missionaries."

"Thus the preparation for handling these books, and the daily experiences gained while bringing them to the attention of the people, will prove an invaluable schooling to those who take part in this line of effort. Under the blessing of God, the youth will obtain a fitting up for service in the Lord's vineyard."

Let us remember these young people in our prayers and bear them up continually in our arms of faith as we approach the mercy seat.

Missions Extension Campaign

IN spite of many fears we are getting good news from far and near. Let us start in the Union office at head-quarters. Here are eight of us including the President. It is very difficult for us to spend much time in the sale of literature but we have all been out—and what are the results? Not only have we brought in the average of 5/- per member, but we have doubled that amount and our total profits from sales show an average of 10/- per member. Now let us step over to Wales. There is no need to mention the difficulties there. We have just returned from spending a few days in the valleys and meeting with the members who are courageously fighting the battle against circumstances. We cannot forget one little company of five or six members, right in the heart of unemployment, approximately eighty per cent out of work. The mines closed, the works quiet, people tramping the streets, and yet—after our meeting, two members came up and said, "Order for us a supply of literature." We hesitated, but with smiles they assured us that they would certainly dispose of them.

Then over in the Irish Free State, where English literature is not welcomed, we have the assurance that Dublin will reach their goal.

Now to Scotland, what are they doing? Here is Dundee sending an order for nearly 300 copies of the Jubilee magazine. Aberdeen orders a supply as well as Glasgow, Edinburgh, etc.

We should not forget Belfast, however, in North Ireland, which ordered 600 copies of the Jubilee magazine and is out to reach its goal.

Here is good news from one of our church leaders in North England. He says, speaking of the Jubilee magazine, "It is a paper par excellence!" The children have helped, too. One boy, age 11, "following in father's footsteps" ordered six dozen copies of the Jubilee magazine and up to date has disposed of forty-seven. Another young girl, only sixteen, sold nineteen copies in two hours, and another one, age 14, eight copies in the same time.

What others have done, you may do. Now, ere it be too late, let us give a good finish to our Missions Extension Campaign and see that every church reaches its quota. We are looking for some good news from the College and we feel confident that they, too, will reach the goal.

You will all be anxious to know the results of our Campaign so please contribute your part and let us have your report in good time, immediately after the money is in for the month of April.

Sir Oswald Mosley, at a great meeting in the Royal Albert Hall, London, which was filled to overflowing with 10,000 or more people present, gave a rally call to Britain. He said the creed of his movement was "to give all, to dare all, for England." Surely this should be the motto of our movement in every effort that is being put forth to give this glorious message to the Homeland. You will not fail us, will you?

South England Conference

President: Pastor H. W. Lowe
Office Address: 395 Holloway Road, London, N.7.

Final Conference Notice

THIS will be our final notification of the convening of the thirty-second annual session of the South England Conference, to be held in Holloway, May 17th to 21st inclusive. We are happy to announce that Pastor L. H. Christian of the Northern European Division, Pastor S. A. Wellman, of the General Conference, as well as Pastor W. E. Read and other British Union workers, will be with us for the whole of the time. Programmes will be forwarded to church leaders and others may be had on application.

ALL requiring apartments, if they have not already applied, should write at once to Brother W. J. Cannon, at the above address, stating exactly what is required. The usual displays by the various institutions will be in evidence. We hear that The Stanboroughs will have a special "comfort" display this year. The Stanboroughs' staff will offer the same facilities to our people as were offered in the Minor Hall last year.

THE ordinances will be celebrated at 4.15 on Sabbath afternoon for isolated and other persons desirous of participating. Prospective baptismal candidates should apply to the writer immediately. All lists of church delegates should also be sent to the conference secretary without delay. Come and meet with us at what we are sure is going to be a soul refreshing experience for the Lord's needy people in these difficult times.

BAPTISMS

SEVERAL baptisms will be held before the Conference convenes. Brother L. A. Watson in Plymouth is planning on a small service of this kind; Pastor J. G. Bevan will have a baptismal service in Gloucester, and Pastor C. A. Reeves thinks he will have twenty persons, at least, to be baptized in Wimbledon on Sunday, May 13th. Brother Reeves had his largest Sabbath afternoon meeting last week, when eighty persons were present, and he is very encouraged with the prospects in the Wimbledon area.

On the whole, our prospects are very good for encouraging baptisms this year. H. W. LOWE.

Our Work in East Anglia

"MAKE a joyful noise before the Lord!" Why? Because we have a new Sabbath-school. Where? In Lowestoft!

It was a happy experience to meet with our new believers in Lowestoft, where Brother R. S. Joyce has been labouring only four months, and it brought that inward joy to our hearts which we believe the angels share in heaven.

Sabbath morning, March 24th, was not very bright, but as we made our way to the Y.M.C.A. hall, there glowed within us the warmth of expectation. As the hour of 10 a.m. struck, we were ushered in to the companionship of some sixty Sabbath-school members, forty-six of these being adults.

This was the third time that these souls had met as a school. What a pleasure it was to hear them take part in all the exercises of a properly-organized Sabbath-school—missions talk, secretary's report, review, and lesson study. God does indeed set His seal of approval upon such work.

We found Brother and Sister Joyce, Miss Olive Davies, and Miss Stone, those who are working in that section, full of courage and joy in the Lord in spite of bitter opposition.

We know that you are remembering God's chosen messengers before the throne of grace. Let us seek God for His continued blessing on this new school of believers, that they all, without exception, may enter into full fellowship with us.

Brother and Sister L. Vince, whom we visited in Norwich, are rejoicing to see new souls taking their stand for the truth, while in Yarmouth Brother and Sister C. R. Bonney are of very good courage as they carry forward the cause of Christ in that corner of the Lord's vineyard.

We returned from our trip in East Anglia inspired and blessed, knowing that God is blessing the faithful efforts of a fearless and united team of workers.

News from Bristol District

DURING the week-end, April 6th to 8th, we were greatly privileged to have a visit from our Union president, Bristol, Bath, and Southstoke shared in the blessings of five good meetings, held in their respective meeting places.

It was felt that the Spirit of the Lord was in our midst in a special manner in these services, and we are hopeful of definite fruitage as a result. At the closing service in the Bristol Church, a goodly number of strangers were present, and expressed themselves as having been impressed with the message they heard.

Brother Warren, the manager of our publishing house, gave us a full week-end March 24th to 26th, and his ministry was greatly appreciated by the Bristol members. On the Saturday evening, he gave the lantern lecture, "Evangelizing Britain." When it came to an end, our feelings were that it was all too short.

Our very-much-alive departmental secretary visited us for the week-end, January 18th to 21st, during which time he conducted a Sabbath-School Rally in the Bristol Church, and also visited Bath, Croscombe, and Brean.

On the Saturday evening he delighted the Bristol members with his lantern lecture on the Young People's Camp, which had an added interest, as the places referred to were known to most of our members, being only a few miles away.

We were favoured with a visit from our conference president on Friday and Sabbath, February 9th and 10th. These two days were very blessed occasions. The Spirit of God was present in marked manner on the Sabbath, as Pastor Lowe ordained one of the local deacons to his sacred work. Many were in tears as the Spirit moved upon their hearts.

During Missionary Volunteer Week, Pastor F. W. Goodall gave us a flying visit, addressing a number of young people, also several of the older members, giving them helpful instruction.

We are happy to say that we have a loyal church membership, many of whom are active in the distribution of the printed page, the church-elder of Bristol having well over 500 regular readers of Present Truth, and several of the newer members are taking up the same good work.

We are enjoying our work in the district, and we are praying that the Lord will help us constantly to labour in such a way as to meet with His approval and result in many souls being saved for His kingdom. Will you join us in this prayer?

HAROLD W. McCrow.

Wedding Bells

HARDY-SEARSON—North England campers will be interested in the news that on Monday morning, March 19th, George Leslie Hardy and Edith Annie Searson, both members of the Sutton-in-Ashfield company, were united in marriage at the Huthwaite Methodist Church. It was fitting that their fellow-camper, Pastor O. M. Dorland, should perform the ceremony, which was witnessed by a goodly number of churchmembers and friends. We all wish them a predominance of the "better" and the utmost of grace to bear mutually whatever may come to them of the "worse." They are thinking of naming their new house, "Cayton Villa"!

J. H. PARKIN

BALL-BEARDSSELL—Sister Norah Beardsell and Brother Cecil Ball were united in marriage on February 28th. The ceremony was performed in our finely equipped church at North Road, Plymouth, in the presence of a large congregation of members and friends. At the conclusion of the service the bridal party repaired to the bride's home at Bereferrers, Devon, where a delightful wedding breakfast was served. Later the happy couple left for Bournemouth. It was a joy to witness these young people uniting their lives in holy matrimony and at the same time rededicating their lives in consecrated service to God. We are sure the Missionary Volunteer family will join us in wishing Brother and Sister Ball Heaven's richest blessing.

The service was conducted by the writer assisted by Brother L. A. Watson, Sister Andrews officiating with distinction at the organ.

F. S. JACKSON

BAYLISS-CASH.—On March 15th, at the Stanborough Park Church, Brother John Huntley Bayliss, graduate of Kings College, London, was united in marriage to Miss Olive Cash, graduate of The Stanboroughs, Watford. The service was conducted by Pastor O. M. Dorland. After the service the happy couple with friends and relatives gathered in The Stanborough Press Assembly room, kindly lent for the occasion. After a pleasant time spent together, all present wished them God's richest blessings as they travel life's journey together.

W. D. PROUDLEY

MARRINER-JAMES—On Monday, April 2nd, Brother Matthew Collier Marriner and Sister Norah May James, both workers at The Stanborough Press, were united in matrimony in the Stanborough Park Church.

After the service the happy pair and many friends journeyed to Edgware, where the wedding breakfast was held in one of the Division offices kindly loaned for the occasion. The service was conducted by the writer.

A. S. M.

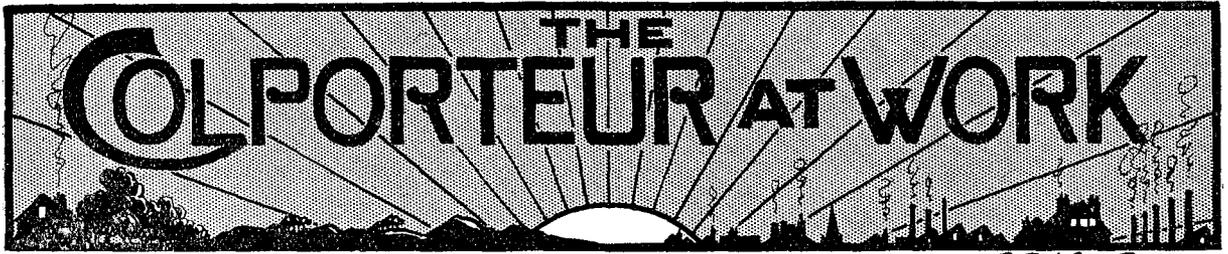

WARREN-ALLEN—On Sunday, April 15th, in the Stanborough Park Church, Brother Edgar Arthur Warren (son of Brother A. Warren, the manager of The Stanborough Press) and Sister Lilian Alberta Allen, also a worker in The Stanborough Press, were united in matrimony, the writer conducting the service. A large number of friends and fellow-workers gathered in the church, many of whom assembled later in the bride's home in Sheepcote Lane for the reception. We wish them both every happiness as they walk life's journey together.

Seventh-Day Adventist Book Exhibition

ADVENTISTS now publish close on 400 books in the English language—precious books containing the most valuable information in the world.

An exhibition of some of these books will be held in connection with each Conference. Come and enjoy yourself inspecting them. Store your library with these treasures.

The Approach (Concluded)

THE colporteur and the possible buyer are together and the latter's favourable attention is on the colporteur as he proceeds with his Approach. To have made a full disclosure of the object of his visit by saying that he was there to sell a religious book would probably have ensured the colporteur's defeat

So in reply to Mr. Prospect's question, "What is it about?" the colporteur has made the statement, "It is regarding the many questions that press upon our minds to-day." This arouses Mr Prospect's curiosity sufficiently to hold his attention and get him ready for going further in the interview.

Now brother colporteur, what shall you do or say next? Your Mighty Hour is still tucked away in the carrier under your coat. Shall you produce it at this point and begin exhibiting?

What principle is involved in the sales procedure to guide the colporteur in making the next step? It is this: Point out some need, or problem, or difficulty, and if possible get your prospect to admit it. If this is done, and it is stated that you have the solution, the prospective customer's desire is aroused to see the proposition which you have to offer.

With this important principle in mind, then, you can proceed as follows:

"We often wonder why we have reached a time of such remarkable progress as the present. Why the rapid increase of knowledge in recent years. Yet more especially perhaps, why in this age of great advancement there is such widespread unrest and perplexity in the world.

"Has the Bible any message of assurance for the future?

"No doubt these and similar questions frequently occupy your thoughts, Mr. Prospect."

"Admitted," he is likely to reply.

"Well now, you will be pleased to know that these matters are dealt with in a well-prepared work which is already being greatly appreciated." You continue, and by the look in his eye you realize that his interest is ripening into a desire to have the proposition before him for investigation.

Cultivate a quiet confidence and speak with conviction. While the circumstances of your prospects will most certainly vary, the information gleaned before approaching them, and points gathered quickly on making their acquaintance, will guide you in deviating from the standard canvass. But endeavour to adhere to the underlying principles of the successful Approach. Here they are, in their order:

1. Making friendly contact, so gaining attention.

2. Giving slight clue, so arousing curiosity which holds attention.
3. Pointing out need or problem, so awakening interest.
4. Offering solution, thus creating desire.

B. BELTON.

Saved from Suicide

I KNOCKED at the door and noticed that the lady who opened it seemed particularly dejected and careworn. She invited me in when I asked for an interview, and after explaining the purpose of my visit she unfolded to me the misery of her existence during the past six years. She had a drunken husband who had neglected and ill-treated her and used abominable language when under the influence of drink.

She had recently lost a beautiful step-daughter. They had often been turned out into the streets in the early hours of the morning by the drunken husband.

This lady said she felt I had been sent to save her from committing suicide as she had been contemplating putting her head in the gas oven.

I prayed with the lady and spoke kindly to her while the tears rolled down her face. I thanked God for using me in this way to prevent such a terrible act. The burden seemed to lift, for the expression of the lady changed from one of utter dejection to fresh hope and courage. I left her a copy of The World's Quest, which she very much appreciated, and which I hope will be a blessing.

At Rest

FLEMONS—As a result of being run into by a motor-car in Luton, about 8 p.m. on March 31st, our dear Brother Arthur Bates Flemons, age seventy years, passed away in the Bute Hospital on Thursday, a little after midnight. This is a sad loss to our church, for our brother was a quiet and kind man, much liked and respected by all who knew him. Above all, he was a dear Christian and an obedient and faithful servant of his Master. He had served the church at Luton as deacon for several years. The funeral service was held in the Cemetery Chapel at the Rothesay Road burial ground, Pastor Colthurst conducting the service. He laid stress on the blessedness of the hope of the second coming of our Saviour and he comforted the hearts of the mourners with the prospect of the happy day of the resurrection.

MRS. HARRIS, Church Clerk.

Ministry of the Literature

By A. Warren

The Princess and Her Books

WINSOME Princess Elizabeth, whose eighth birthday was celebrated a few days ago, is the proud possessor of two bound volumes of Bedtime Stories. Isn't it interesting to think of these books being read with interest in that palace home?

All the Regular Readers Took It

SISTER BURROUGHS writes: "You may be interested to know that my sixty regular Present Truth readers have all taken and appreciated the Jubilee Number. I have ordered thirty through the home missionary department to help in Big Month. I think it is a fine selling book and a very clever article on the Sabbath."

The Children at Work

"GEOFFREY is putting all his energy into selling the seventy-two Jubilee Numbers he ordered," writes Brother T. G. Belton of his boy. "Last Sunday he sold twenty (including about fifteen to regular readers). He worked on until five o'clock without any stop for lunch. To-day he has been out all day till six o'clock and he has since gone out again till eight o'clock. His total to-day is twenty-six (including five regulars). One lady gave him a shilling for one. He is very keen on selling them all and putting the proceeds to the Big Month."

Pitcairn Island

LAST Sabbath was the anniversary of the mutiny of The Bounty, an event of great interest to all Adventists. Our brethren on Pitcairn Island probably celebrated the day and planned how to witness for the truth on the next steamer which appeared over the horizon.

Did you know that the people of Pitcairn first knew of the truth through tracts and papers sent to them by Adventist believers? No wonder they are diligent in using the literature themselves!

National Newspaper and Seventh-Day Adventists

La Prensa, one of the leading newspapers of Buenos Aires, came out on February 5th with an entire page of pictures and reading devoted to the work of Seventh-Day Adventists. This was the result of an acquaintanceship providentially made by one of our ministers and the editor of this newspaper.

La Prensa is one of the two greatest newspapers of Argentina, reaching at times a circulation of 400,000 copies. This report of our work will have a wide circulation among the Spanish-speaking peoples of that great republic of South America.

He Was a Scotchman

FROM his accent I could tell that he came from beyond the Border.

A neat, trim man of about thirty-five, he listened attentively while I displayed the Jubilee number, and told how that for fifty years it had championed the Bible.

I handed him a copy and he examined it slowly and thoroughly while I talked of the good work it was doing.

"I'll have one of these," he said, "and here is 2/- to help your work."

"Oh, well now," I said, a little taken aback at this unusual result, "That is certainly very generous of you. I really must—allow me to give you one of these books, The World's Quest, as well, as a token of my appreciation." And I explained briefly the scope of the work.

"Um! let me have that 2/- back," he said, taking the book.

I handed it back wonderingly. Was he thinking of Aberdeen?

No!

"Here," he said, "is half-a-crown. Take it and may God bless you richly in your work."

Through the Trellis Work

I RAPPED with the knocker and after a little while a voice called from behind the trellis fence which separated the back garden from the front.

Now, colporteurs don't like canvassing people who are up at a bedroom window or down in a cellar, and I didn't want to canvass through that trellis, either. It gave the lady an unfair advantage of me.

But after knocking again twice, with the hope of luring her from behind those fortifications, I capitulated.

"I am making special visits as a Christian worker with the Jubilee number of our Bible magazine."

"No, thank you, it's not for us—I'm a Jewess."

"Oh, then you will be interested in this. I'm a Seventh-Day Adventist. Our people stood with your people for the defence of the Sabbath at Geneva against the Calendar reformers."

"Oh!"

"Yes, I know Rabbi Hyamson and Rabbi — what's his name—and Rabbi Hyamson said to me, 'You should have heard Mr. Maxwell's speech at Geneva.' Have you seen Mr. Maxwell's photo? It's in this paper."

And I opened the magazine at the page, then folded it up and poked it through the trellis.

"I understand that the Calendar Reformers are going to try again before long and we shall have to stand together for our liberties," I went on.

"I'll take this one," she said.
